SECRETLY BY THE DEMOCRATS CALLED THE LONE METHOD TO BREAK PRESENT HITCHCOCK-UNDERWOOD DEADLOCK.

Lawrence Shows That This Is Lone Method to Break Present Hitchcock-Underwood Deadlock.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.
(Special Correspondent of The News Scimitar.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Secret ballots may not be popular but that is the only way the Democratic party in the senate will be able to choose a leader without leaving scars of dissatisfaction among the friends of Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska and Senator Underwood of Alabama, the rival candidates. As things stand now the strength of each is exactly the same, only one vote carries the new senator from Virginia, who takes his seat soon, and Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, who declined to vote on the last ballot, can break the tie.

It would appear that arguments favor Senator Underwood should be the Georgia senator vote for Mr. Hitchcock, the Indiana lot would still be a tie. The story goes that Senator Hoke Smith gave encouragement to both Senators Hitchcock and Underwood prior to the last caucus and found himself in an embarrassing position when the voting started. The caucus had a lively debate as to whether to invite Senator-elect Glass to participate, but because the vote on the invitation was 20 to 19 and not unanimous the Virginia senator wisely refrained from participating in the contest.

Things have progressed to the point where a secret ballot will give the Democrats a leader and prevent hard feelings in the future, for while Senators Hitchcock and Underwood are both too big to be personally affected by the votes of their colleagues, some of their friends have become so. Hitchcock and Underwood prior to the last caucus and found himself in an embarrassing position when the voting started. The caucus had a lively debate as to whether to invite Senator-elect Glass to participate, but because the vote on the invitation was 20 to 19 and not unanimous the Virginia senator wisely refrained from participating in the contest.

Feeling Exists.

As between the Mondell and Mann factions feeling has not yet entirely disappeared and it would have been much better all around if a secret ballot had been taken in every case.

The public is not required to sign each ballot deposited in general elections and where the choice of individuals from among their own number is concerned senators ought not to feel required to record publicly their likes and dislikes or their subjective judgments of the worth of colleagues.

The next vote on the Democratic leadership of the senate will be taken whenever Senators Hitchcock and Underwood agree to issue the call, which will be about the middle of next month. The delay is due to the feeling among the senators that they should have a free hand in the negotiations for a compromise on the peace treaty and the Democratic party is not going to swap horses in midstream.

Negotiations for a compromise are proceeding very well. In another week or so the public will know just what each side has yielded and whether, in these heated sessions, sufficient concessions to warrant a ratification of the compromise.

There is no doubt that the friends of Senator Underwood, too, have felt that as long as the treaty was on the calendar, they could not make as effective an argument for him as they might when it was disposed of. The partisans of Mr. Hitchcock have argued that it would be giving aid and comfort to the Republicans to ratify the leadership of Senator Hitchcock on the peace treaty.

Point to Record.

The partisans of Mr. Underwood have insisted that when the treaty is out of the way and domestic matters are again in the foreground, there is no better leader than Oscar Underwood. The record of his connection to his better record as leader of a victorious party in the house when domestic issues were paramount. He is a senator, it is urged, moreover, that he has a special knowledge of many of the questions that are to arise in the next campaign.

On the other hand, it is to some extent, a contest between the West and the South, and the Western states are saying it would be a severe blow to their prestige if the South were to win the leadership again. They argue that the West has not forgotten the activity of Southern senators in keeping the government out of the cotton and wheat market, and the price of cotton, whilst the price of wheat was fixed for the Western farmer.

They contend, moreover, that the South has had the leadership long enough in the person of Senator Martin of Virginia and Representative Claude B. King of North Carolina, and that if the Democrats are to play up to the West this year, the leadership ballot should do so to show it to leadership ballot. To all this the friends of Mr. Underwood reply that the record of Democratic leadership is a record of failure.

URGES BIG BOND ISSUE FOR ROADS

Government Experts Impartures Legislators to Expend $25,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(Sp.)—Speaking before the Mississippi legislature, Charles W. Reid, former executive officer of the highway transportation committee of the Council of National Defense and now manager of the transportation bureau of the federal highway commission, urged the passage of a state-wide system of improved highways would follow increased activity in public health, in education, in religion and the development of industrial and rural life.

Especially adapted to the raising of vegetables, a system of good roads would mean, further, Mr. Reid said, that production could be doubled and the price of land reduced. There are 250,000 farms in Mississippi, he declared, with the average acre worth $13.69, a figure that could be easily doubled with the advent of a good road, such as the proposed bond issue would help provide.

Mr. Reid cited the progress of other states in road-building, pointed out the necessity of Mississippi keeping step, complimented the state highway department for its alertness and told the legislators they could pass no piece of legislation which would make more memorable this term's bond issue than the road bond issue, characterizing it "the greatest and most constructive measure that has ever been put over by Mississippi."

Easy Way to Keep Your Hair in Curl

If you have trouble keeping your hair in curl, you'll do well to try plain liquid silmerine. Apply a little at night with a clean tooth brush, drawing this down the full length of the hair from root to tip. The hair will dry in the prettiest waves and curls that you can arrange, and the effect will appear altogether natural. Instead of that dull, dried-out look which the heated iron gives, the hair will be bright, lustrous and beautiful.

Liquid silmerine is of course perfectly harmless to hair and scalp, and is neither greasy nor gummy. If you will get a few ounces from your druggist you will find it quite inexpensive to use.

Plans Funeral, Jackson, Tenn., Man Dies Suddenly

JACKSON, Tenn., Jan. 23.—(Sp.)—Fountain W. Parish, 35 years old, Confederate veteran and life-long citizen of this county, was found dead at his home, seven miles northeast of the city, Thursday morning. His sudden death being the result of an attack of heart failure. He was a well-known citizen of the Brown's church community and highly respected by a host of friends in the adjoining county.

The end came when he was kindling a fire in his room. He was heard walking about by members of the family who were in an adjoining room. It being his custom to arise early in the morning, the members of the family felt no uneasiness until their investigation was prompted by a prolonged silence. Upon entering the room the family found the deceased lying dead on the floor.

Several days ago deceased said he would not live long. At that time he selected the eleventh verse of the 84th Psalm as the text from which he requested the songs which he desired to be sung at the funeral service. Although he talked of approaching death, he was apparently in good health until the end came.

Be Young for Your Years

You were taught at school that your body undergoes a complete change of structure every seven years.

This tearing down and building up process of body tissue continues without a moment's pause throughout life.

And when a man gets into a physical condition that the tissues keep breaking down and wasting away faster than Nature can replace them, right then he begins to grow "old."

This doesn't necessarily mean, however, that he has reached an advanced age. Thousands upon thousands of people begin to break down, their vital organs giving evidence of fast approaching decay, long before they reach middle age simply because they fail to give Nature, at the proper time, the needed help to rebuild.

If you are beginning to show the slightest sign of a physical "let-down"—if you are losing your old-time "pep" vim and vigor—if high tension energy and nervous strain are beginning to tell on you—it's a sure sign that you are growing "old"—too old for your years. You've reached that stage where your vital forces need rebuilding. Don't make the serious mistake

DROPS OF MAGIC! LIFT OUT CORNS

Sore, touchy corns stop hurting, then lift right out with fingers

For a few cents you can get a small bottle of the famous corn drug freestone recently discovered by a Cincinnati man.

Just ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freestone. Apply a few drops upon a tender, aching corn or callus and instantly all soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you lift it off with the fingers.

Just think! Not one bit of pain before applying freestone or a day's rest. It doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

Hard corns, soft corns, or corns between the toes, also hardened calluses on bottom of feet, shrivel up and fall off without hurting a particle. It is almost magical.

Ladies! Keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let a corn or callus ache twice.
